— A WATCH DOG TO WATCH THE WATCHMAN . . .

The ordinary wet pipe or dry pipe sprinkler system is a watchman, but the Suprotex Sprinkler System is a watchman with a watch dog to watch the watchman. In the Suprotex Sprinkler System:

It is the business of Rate-of-Rise Control—the Watchman—to detect any fire at the start, ring a fire alarm instantly, rush water to the sprinklers where it is held until there is enough heat for sprinkler discharge. Gives a chance to do things before a deluge of water goes to work.

It is the business of Automatic Supervision—the Watch Dog—to sound a fire alarm gong—if the Rate-of-Rise Control is put out of order.

to sound a trouble siren—
if pipes, fittings or sprinklers are damaged or tampered with. Such damage can be repaired without shutting off the protection or disturbing the fire alarm signal.

if the main control gate valve in the water supply is partially or completely closed.

if the water supply ahead of the main control valve is shut off.

To get the complete story of Suprotex for ordinary hazards, ask for Bulletin 48. For extra hazards, ask for Suprotex-Deluge Bulletin 44. Also General Catalog 49.

METROPOLITAN GOLF CHAMPIONS

For the second year in a row the Prep golfers have won the Metropolitan crown. They swept through every rival team this season to keep the golf trophy at the Prep. And proof that it will remain here for still another year is the fact that seven of the players are undergraduates. Before giving the scores, a word of praise to Mr. Hoggson, S.J. for the second year as coach of a championship golf team.

Today, as we go to press, Bud Eckrich poled an ever rising ball into deep center to bring in three runs and complete the upset victory over Washington and Lee, the best team in the Metropolitan District. Tony Beyer had just tripled to clear the bases, Tobin had gotten three out of three—Barrett had pitched a wonderful game. Decker had completed another errorless game at Short-stop. Coach Orrel Mitchell was jubilant—he had concluded a highly successful coaching season. For out of a green squad he had made a team that beat Landon, Bethesda and Washington and Lee, three of the city's great teams. The LITTLE HOYA in its graduation number will run a feature by Michael Tobin reviewing the highlights of the season.

Midget Basketball

Courageous, fighting spirit characterized the Midget team of 1941. Extremely handicapped by their smallness, they nevertheless fought many a taller and bigger team to a standstill, only to lose because their opponents had those extra few inches of reach. Two heart-breakers were lost: one, to Rockville by one point in an over-time period; and another to the runners-up in the Washington Parochial League, St. Mathews, by two points. Their record stands: one win, 7 losses. A future G.P. star was uncovered in Don Kiley. Time and again he thrilled the spectators with his speed, cleverness and alertness. Guyer and O'Connor continued their football partnership. Roberts, Wilson and G. Rossello showed promise, while Brown, C. Rossello, Tenerowicz and Farrelly provided staunch reserve strength.

Junior Basketball

After the Christmas holidays the Juniors engaged in 17 games, eight of which they won. In these they accumulated three hundred and twelve points against their opponents two hundred and seventy points. Perhaps the sweetest victory of the season was that over the Loyola Jayvees, a team which had administered a sound thrashing to the Juniors on the New York trip.

The best defensive exhibition of the year was given against Sidwell Friends who were unable to put a field goal through the hoop during the entire game. The greatest scoring punch appeared in the first game with Devitt in which forty-one points were countered against the opponents ten.

Iona Is Defeated, 14-6

"Eckrich, Triple Threat Back of Georgetown Prep, Defeats Irish Almost Single Handedly

"Iona Prep's record of 10 unbeaten years in the Georgetown-Iona rivalry, which is exhibited annually at Haag Field on Thanksgiving Day, went by the boards yesterday morning when a big, heavy and tricky Georgetown Prep 11 made its trip from Garrett Park, Maryland, worth while by handing the Irish a 14-6 setback.

"In this the 11th year of competition between the teams, Georgetown had the better of the fight most of the way with the breaks helping them on. However, the outstanding ball player on the field yesterday morning was Eugene Eckrich, one of the best backs we have seen this year. It was Eckrich against Iona—he didn't give the Irish time to settle back before banging away first at the forward wall and then through the ozone."

"The visitors, expertly coached by Tommy Keating, Georgetown University star on the 1938 team, exhibited their smartness when they quick kicked on three occasions to set the Irish back on their heels.

"Early in the second quarter occurred the play which aside from spelling defeat for Iona, will be talked about for some time to come. Slightly worn from the beating he was taking at the hands of the Iona forward wall, Eckrich went back to pass. In swarmed Iona tackles and every one of them hit him at the waist leaving his arms free. He stood there immovable and when he saw George Ghecas free about 15 yards in front of him, drew back his right arm and shot the ball on the line to Ghecas, who was brought down by Babe Dowling, the last Iona player in sight, on the Irish 6 yard line.

"Iona stood up under the beating of this superman for three plays but on the fourth he slipped over his own right tackle for the second Hoya touchdown. McDonnell followed immediately with his line buck and the hole in the Iona middle was big enough to drive a truck through. As a matter of fact, he didn't run, he walked.

"A long forward pass and run, from Eckrich to Ghecas, a speedy halfback, covering 60 yards, set up the Hoyas' second touchdown. Eckrich went over his own right guard and tackle for the score after a fighting Iona line was blocked out. Again McDonnell converted with a line buck."

A glance at the record shows the spirit of the 1940 Varsity. The team began the season with a tie at Charlotte Hall. Throughout the game Bud Eckrich and Ben Decker had gained consistently, but there was a jinx on the goal line, and our scoring threats vanished in a scoreless tie.

The second game was one of those overwhelming defeats that makes a team great, for instead of crushing the hopes for the rest of the season, the team's spirit rose in a grim determination to win every game. And the very next game proved it. A 26-0 victory over Landon saw Bud Eckrich score four times behind the bruising blocking of Ray Schneider who mowed down would-be tacklers in Bud's path.

An upset was what the papers called our 7-6 win over Woodrow Wilson. Trailing 6 to 0 with a few minutes left to play, and the ball deep in our territory, Bud Eckrich heaved a 40 yard pass to Mike Tobin, who outran the secondary and scored standing up. Bud crashed through tackle to gain the winning point. It was a story-book ending to a hard fought game —a game that was won because the Prep didn't know they could be beaten.

Loyola was the last game for many Seniors on our home field. And the mud was everywhere, oceans of it. Still the line charged low and fast, and behind them came Bud Eckrich to score twice, and lead the team to a 13 to 0 victory.

The season saw one misfortune which hampered the team greatly— the star quarterback and hero of many a previous game was injured early in the season—Ben Decker. He wasn't able to play again until the Iona game, but he was with the team at every practise and in uniform at every game. The Blue and Gray salutes the following Seniors who have played their last game for the Prep—

Thomas Coakley, William Cremen, Michael Daly, Ben Decker, Bud Eckrich, George Ghecas, Justo Lamar, Bob McChesney, Murray McDonnell, John Nicolaides, Thomas Roche, Leslie Thompson, Michael Tobin.

In conclusion, the sweetest victory of the season was the 14 to 6 win over Iona. The game was played at New Rochelle, and the local paper had headlines on the result. Its article was so full of superlatives for the team that we take the liberty of quoting it at length:

The Dramatic Society

In the Senior Poll, the award for the best play of the year went to: The Man Who Stayed for Tea. Above are shown the actors who helped make the creation of Mr. Joseph so popular. It was presented before the students and the fathers of the students at the Christmas Celebration. While the plot seemed fantastic at the time, recent events have made the play seem like a prophecy unfolding its pages.

In the group above are:

Seated: James Patton, John Golden, Gregory O'Conor.

The Bellarmine Debating Society

The activities of the Bellarmine Debating Society were strictly intramural this year and were climaxed by a debate before the student body. Mr. Ross, S.J., Moderator of the Society, conducted the weekly debates, where the debating teeth were cut on such highly disputed questions as a two-ocean navy, a separate air-force, and the third-term tradition.

Seated: Albin Scott, Mr. Ross, S.J., Robert Schneider.

The Philalethic Debating Society

An all-Junior team represented the Prep this year and turned in a creditable performance. After losing a split-decision to Gonzaga, they won a unanimous verdict over McKinley Tech of Washington, D. C. With the experience gained in these two debates, next year's team will begin the campaign of Pro and Cons as seasoned veterans.

This year's team was composed of Rufus Lusk, Agustin Reyes and Joseph Keenan. In the Annual Prize Debate, Rufus Lusk was judged the best speaker.

Here, breaking out of print, are the gentlemen who have been breaking into print throughout the year as they published the school paper, THE LITTLE HOYA.

THE LITTLE HOYA is a vital expression of the tremendous activity that fills Prep School life. In its pages, its editors and writers have tried to mirror the happenings of the year. Articles range from an account of the Wilson game, won in the last moments by a long desperate pass, to editorials on topics like "Pre-exam Worries" and "Lenten Practices."

The staff is young—predominantly Sophomores—and we newly fledged Alumni will be looking forward to the future Little Hoyas in our mail boxes. Make sure, John Kelly and Frank Kirchhof, that you have our addresses in your files!

The Blue And Gray

Under the editorship of John Brunett, '41 the Blue and Gray won high praise for its articles and format. Published at Christmas and Easter, the school magazine contained articles from every Form. The Easter Issue was noteworthy for its analysis of the teaching methods of English in Jesuit High Schools, and the Staff is very proud of a congratulatory message from Father Michael A. Clark, S.J., Prefect-General of Jesuit High Schools, Maryland-New York Province, commending the theme and contents of the publication.

The Saint John Berchman's Society

"I will go unto the altar of God—to God who givest joy to my youth."
—Prayer recited by the Altar boy at the beginning of Holy Mass.

Above are the students who serve the Masses and assist at Benediction during the school year. Under the direction of Mr. Ryan, S.J., they concluded another year of meritorious service. We re-echo the praise of the Fathers when we laud their devotedness and their regularity in performing their duties.

The altar boy is the nearest person to the priest at Mass. He is actually surrounded by angels as he rings the Sanctus bell. May these students ever remain as closely bound with the supernatural world, and may the prayer, quoted above, which they recite at Mass be true for all our altar boys throughout life.

Sodality Of Our Blessed Mother

Every Wednesday afternoon Father Kiehne, S.J. conducts the meeting of the Sodality. But the highlight of the year's activities comes in May. Then it is that every morning a Senior delivers a short sermon on some virtue of Our Lady, and the entire student body recites the Litany and sings a hymn in her honor. Thus each May day begins at the Prep. Father Kiehne is rightly proud of the splendid spirit shown during the past year. May the following years imitate the zeal and devotion manifested by this years Sodality.

The First And Second Forms

Saturated with school spirit and possessing the utmost zest and energy, the twelve members of the First and Second Forms have fitted in with the rest of the students from the very opening of school. They proved their mettle in the football season, when they had a most successful campaign. They were ardent rooters at all the varsity games. They presented an oratorical acadmey before the entire student body. Today, after one brief year in our midst, they have integrated themselves and have become our hopefuls for the future glories of the Prep.

Blue and Gray; Little Hoya; Junior Football, (Tackle).

Chevy Chase, was also on a varsity team—the tennis team. Bob Crowley, of Chevy Chase, Maryland, played Varsity Football, and during the winter was a guard on the Junior basketball team, Tommy Crowley is the Business Manager of the Blue and Gray, and is an ardent candid camera fiend.

Charlie Dillon, of Hartford, Connecticut, holds the Junior Skiing Championship of Connecticut, and while at the Prep played on the Varsity Football team, the Junior Basketball team, and impersonated Mr. Hitler in the Christmas Play. Kemp Devereux of Chevy Chase, Maryland, is an all-around athlete—scoring 36 points in Midget football, then played on the Junior basketball team, and is now out for the track team.

Rolland Gasser, of Washington, D. C., played strong-side tackle on the Midgets and has a knack of getting Honor Cards. Francois Jacquin just came to the Prep from France, and was an enthusiastic basketeer in the Blue and Gray Competitions. Steve Julia, of Washington, D. C., is an expert in every sport—he starred in Football, basketball, baseball, and is now on the track team. Fernando Munil'a is often seen on the rifle range. John McDonald, of Bethesda, Maryland, staff photographer of the Little Hoya, is assistant manager of Varsity Football.

George Rossello, of Havana, Cuba, played Midget Football, Basketball and Baseball. Fabrizio Rossi Longhi, of Washington, D. C., is the class finalist in the Junior Elocution contest, and writes for the Blue and Gray Finally, Bob Schneider, of Crafton, Pennsylvania, has been his brother Ray's big support on the "Blues" in the Intra-Mural competitions.

Freshman Class History

Brooke—(but he rather be called "Tony") Beyer, from Washington, D. C., is the class President. Tony starred in Junior football and basketball, and now is regular third-baseman on the varsity nine. Jimmy Crowley, of Chevy Chase, is the Vice-President, and is a regular on the golf team. James Toomey, of Poughkeepsie, New York, has been active in many varsity games, playing tackle on the football team, and forward during the basketball season.

Hill Christie comes all the way from Houston, Texas, and was the mainstay of the Junior-Varsity's line this past winter. Jack Coyle, of Springfield, Illinois, is another Freshman who made the Varsity Golf Team. Charles Price, of Silver Springs, Maryland, completes the trio that represent the Freshmen on the links.

Writing this we begin to realize how many Freshmen have played important roles on school teams. For the next in line, Jimmy Crosby, of Crowley, Steve is expected to fill a first string postion on next year's varsity football team.

John Dillon, of Pelham, New York, is a name found in all the sport write-ups. For John played on the Midget and Junior Football teams, the Junior Basketball team, and pitches for the Midget baseball team. Long John Kel y, of Pittsburgh, is the Junior Varsity guard and the efficient Circulation Manager of the Little Hoya. Francis Kirchhof, from Denver, Colorado, is the young, rising Editor-in-Chief of the Little Hoya. Frank played left-wing on the soccer team, Tackle in Junior Football, and is a consistent honor student. Paul Leonard, of Farnham Common, Buckinghamshire, England, is on the Staffs of the Blue and Gray and the Little Hoya.

Hugo Moser, of Haarlem, Holland, is another Honor student who holds down a first-string postion on the soccer squad. Jimmy Mundell of Washington, D. C., p'ays Junior Football, right tackle, and is headed for next year's varsity team. Dick Nicolaides, of Washington, D. C., is following in the athletic footsteps of his elder brother John. Little Nick has his eyes on the Varsity end-postion.

Gerard Noel, of England, is one of the busy Editors of the Little Hoya. Many of his poems have appeared in the Hoya, and Gerry is also a contributor to the Blue and Gray. Bill Roberts of Washington, D. C., is a soccer player and will graduate from the ranks of Junior Football this Fall.

The class athlete is tall, affable Ray Schneider, of Crafton, Pennsylvania. Ray's blocking for Bud Eckrich paved the way for many touchdowns. Then in Basketball, Ray was an excellent guard. To round out the year, Ray is playing First base for the varsity nine. A newcomer is Jack Shansey of Washington, D. C. Jack can be seen with Pete Crosby daily, tossing the javelin or the sixteen pound shot. Thomas Shearer, of Fort Myers, Florida, is an avid golfer, Spring, Fall, Winter, Summer, rain or shine. Within the past month Bill Wren came to the School, and almost at once, entered into school activities. Bill is now assisting John Kelly on the Little Hoya's Circulation Staff.

The history of the Sophomores wouldn't be complete without a note on Vince Scullin, whom an untimely illness caused to withdraw from the class for a rest. Vince will be with us next year, to continue where he left off—Varsity Football, at left tackle.

Sophomore Class History

The President of the Class, Bino Scott, of Alexandria, Louisiana, was a mainstay on the Junior Football team; played forward on the basketball team, and is now playing on the varsity Tennis team. John Moran, of Grosse Pointe, Michigan, is the Prep's drummer boy and Swing fan. John is the Class Vice-President. Gilbert Kenna, of New Haven, Connecticut, is the Treasurer and Secretary of the class. Gilbert is an expert camera fan, specializing in color film. He also is a tennis addict. Howard Benson, of Washington, D. C. is the radio-electric authority for the Little Hoya.

Francois de Bourgoing, and his brother Guillaume, have been at the Prep but a few months. They hail from France, and are rapidly becoming basketball and tennis players. Bill Coakley, of Cleveland, Ohio, is the Circulation Manager of the Little Hoya and the Manager of the Junior Basketball team. John Crowley, of Chevy Chase, Maryland, is a member of the Sodality, plays tennis nearly every day, and, it is rumored, has that certain way about him as he glides over the ballroom floor. From Lewiston, Maine, comes the centerfielder of the varsity Baseball team—Steve rier on the gridiron . . . Frank Lee, of Washington, D. C., came to the Prep this second semester. You'd better watch out for Frank, for he is a pastmaster at candid-photography . . . Jim Lynch of Canton, Ohio, is the young Tom Edison of the Junior corridor. Jim's great love is baseball, his hobby is electricity, and his outstanding trait is a quiet seriousness . . . Billy Martin, of Arlington, Virginia, son of the famous Billy Martin of Georgetown and later of the New York Giants, won the Golden Gloves contest and is also interested in Football, baseball and basketball. Thomas Monroe is an Honor-card collector from Washington. During the soccer season Tom plays Half-back on the first team . . . Jim Price, of Silver Spring, Maryland, is on the baseball squad and is well known for his camer-antics. Many of Jim's pictures are featured in the Camera Club pages of this Annual . . .

Gregory O'Conor, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is another Honor student. Greg is an excellent actor and is in the Senior Elocution Finals . . . Big John Showell, of Washington, D. C., is an athlete as versatile as he is tall. John played guard and end on the football team, center in basketball, and was the number-one hurler for the baseball team . . . Neil Sullivan, of Philadelphia, plays on the Golf team and is a consistent winner . . . Littell Wilson, of Washington, D. C., played end on the football eleven and was a forward on the basketball team.

Junior Class History

Michigan holds the sceptre of power among the Juniors, for the President and Secretary of the class hail from that state. Donald Eckrich, who backed up the line with his brother Bud, is the Class President. Don is a consistent first honors man and is headed for All-City honors in football . . . A.D. Plamondon, III, is the Vice-President. A.D. is interested in the rifle club and is very adept at free hand drawing. Together with the Secretary, Roger Goodspeed, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, A.D. has been making a name for himself as an artist. Roger Goodspeed is that huge pile of a tackle that kept the strong side of the line at its full power.

Catesby Clay, of Paris, Kentucky, is the soft speaking Southerner who was playing a great game of soccer until an untimely accident put him on the sidelines for the remainder of the season . . . Peter Crosby, of Chevy Chase, Maryland, is the Prep's Superman. Pete can be seen on the track hurling his javelin or heaving the sixteen pound shot. At Fullback, Pete made many saves during the past soccer season . . . Manuel de la Sierra, of Barcelona, Spain is a fleet forward on the soccer team. Of late Manuel has been bitten by the candid camera bug . . . Victor DeRobertis is another newcomer. Vic is from the home town of the Dodgers.

Paul Eagleston, of New Rochelle, New York, plays second base at baseball and is a sure regular for next year's varsity . . .

Henry Green and Arthur Hiemenz are both from St. Louis, Missouri. Green and guns are synonomous at the Prep, and Art is an ardent model maker. Both Art and Henry are excellent golfers . . . Henry Harper is from the Capital City and plays left-half on the soccer team. Henry's articles have been appearing in the school publications . . . Joseph Keenan, also of Washington, is the Prep's debate enthusiast. Joe and Rufus Lusk are the two most ardent speakers at the school. Rufus is happiest when in a heated rebuttal. The third member of the debating team is also a Junior—Agustin Reyes of Havana, Cuba. Augie has been leading his class throughout the year and besides being an excellent student and speaker is a good horseman and rifleman . . . Ed and John Kiley of New York are in their first year at the Prep. Both are debaters. Ed is hurling for the ball team, and John is one of those rare creatures known as a poet. His poetry is often seen in the Little Hoya . . . Gerard Kunkel, of Bel Air, Maryland, is the varsity catcher and plays quarterback on the football team. Then to round off the year Gerry is a forward at basketball and a finalist in the Senior Debating contest . . . Jack Lally, of Pittsburgh, is another all-around athlete—Jack is a forward on the basketball team and a ball car-

Last Will And Testament

We, the members of the class of 1941, being of sound body and some mind, leave the following rare items to the various unfortunates mentioned below.

Tom Coakley leaves to any one desiring it, his room across from the Prefect's.

Bud Eckrich leaves to his brother Don one set of well used football pads.

Mike Tobin leaves his huge and monstrous appetite to John Showell.

The Earl of Gainsborough leaves to John Kelly a set of well rounded Latin constructions.

Justo Lamar bequeaths his hypnotic charm over women to Augie Reyes.

Bishop McDonnell leaves a galaxy of Latin theme marks to Father MacKavanagh to be distributed among future Seniors.

Joseph "The Great One" Lombardi leaves his precious gift of prolonged oratory around bonfires to Augie Reyes.

Thomas Roche leaves his crushing blocking ability to Jack Lally.

William Cremen leaves to Littell Wilson the time-honored privilege of borrowing cigarettes from anyone.

Eugene Derrickson leaves a certain little book of addresses to Manuel de la Sierra.

Manuel Umana leaves his Superman costume to Pete Crosby.

Jim Patton leaves a copious supply of town permissions to Neil Sullivan.

Bob McChesney leaves his orchestrations to Tommy Dorsey and the A.S.C.A.P. fellows.

John Loftus leaves his dynamic, go-getting, irresistible personality to Catesby Clay.

Albert Young leaves Pete Crosby his locker (Signed) in the day-students' locker room.

Mike Daly leaves to Catesby Clay the neatest little room in Montgomery County.

Bill Baldwin leaves his profound knowledge of all branches of mathematics to Peter Crosby.

Mike Tobin is the syndicated Sports editor on the New York Journal-American . . . Tom Roche is that ubiquitous scout for Michigan, ever seeking to find a star to fill Tommy Harmon's shoes . . . Ben Decker's explosives are making a big noise for themselves in the present battle between the Hoofigonians and the Utopians. After this last war to end all wars, Ben plans to go back to the making of skyrockets and pinwheels . . . Murray McDonnell began as the fastest runner on Wall Street and went to the top in record time. Murray is now comfortably installed in the Offices of McDonnell, McDonnell, McDonnell and McDonnell . . . Bish McDonnell has a room full of trophies won on the links, and now spends most of his time on the Long Island courses . . . John Nicolaides is doing an excellent job at the Library of Congress, having just replaced Archibald McLeish. On the side, John is a dancing Instructor at the local Arthur Murray Studios . . . Bob McChesney's Swingsters are the nation's number one band; they are now winding up a six year session at the Waldorf Astoria pink room . . . Al Young, dashing young Alderman from Alexandria, has put the local town on the map after his drastic rejuvenating program. After seven years of Lobbying, Al has succeeded in placing Alexandria on the Esso and Shell road-maps . . . Bob Barrett is coaching basketball at the Prep and still manages to get an occasional week-end in Trenton . . . Gene Derrickson is running a novel radio show called: "I'll attempt to answer your question." . . . Bob "Beat me Daddy" Banker is drum soloist in the Philadelphia Symphony. His classical interpretation of the Boogie Woogie keeps the audience awake during the Symphony's more difficult selections . . . Buddy Cremen revealed his identity as "Sympathetic Samuel", editor of the famous column "Advice to the Love-Lorn" appearing semi-weekly in the Bethesda Journal . . . Mike Daly, owner of the largest racing stables in the East, was giving out tips on his entry in the Kentucky Derby. Mike is also willing to help any of your children master the principal parts of Latin Verbs . . . Al Beacom is enjoying being the editor of "A Thousand Horrors" current best selling magazine. Al's descriptions of carnage in Chicago recalls those comps he wrote at the Prep . . . Bud Eckrich is spending his time between playing for the Detroit Lions as Fullback, and teaching the fundamental steps of the ballet at the Kalamazoo Terpsichorian Guild . . . Les Thompson is manager of the sales department of the Buick Motor Company. Les has designed a few Buicks of late in a desparate attempt to outdo Bill Baldwin's ultra modern De Soto models . . . Justo Lamar is now President pro temp of Cuba, having, like Agricolus of old, left his plantation to take up the worries of state . . . Two members of the class were missing—Ed Vaccaro and Bill Baldwin. The last we heard of Ed was in 1948 when he went to live as a hermit in Arizona. His "Hermit's Cave" had attracted thousands of visitors, and seeking solitude, Ed went to unknown parts . . . Bill Baldwin sailed beyond the equator to live on a desert isle. This was in accord with his long cherished plans. If this copy of the Blue and Gray reaches you, Bill, drop us a line on your activities.

William Baldwin of San Francisco, Ca'ifornia; Alfred Beacom, of Chicago, Illinois; and Justo Lamar, of Habana, Cuba.

We were under the kind and experienced teaching of Father MacKavanagh, S.J., who taught us Latin, English and Religion. Our French course was continued by Mr. Belknap, and the German by Doctor Roman. Father Kiehne, S.J. and Mr. Joseph conducted the classes of Trigonometry and Solid Geometry.

As for the Seniors' contribution to extra-curricular activities, a glance through the Yearbook will show how vital and necessary were their roles.

And now, as we are about to leave the Prep, we want to extend our most sincere expression of gratitude and appreciation to each and every member of the faculty. It is only through their diligent care and watchful eyes that we can say we are truly "Gentlemen of Georgetown".

Dear Sir:

As you requested, I attended with pen and paper the last meeting of the Alumni and I have the following observations to make concerning the class of nineteen forty-one:

Tom Coakley, fresh from his laurels won in the Pendleton Roundup, is living on his ranch in Wyoming. He is working on a project of automatically sprinkling the arid wastes of Death Valley . . . Senator John Loftus of Pennsylvania, who did such a marvelous clean-up job in the local political arena, is striving to pass a bill allowing the LITTLE HOYA to be printed at Government expense at the Government Printing Office . . . John Brunett and Jim Patton, sensational new producers arriving on Broadway, are having their anxious hours trying to get the new Matinee Idol, John Golden, signed on the dotted line for a leading role in their play, "Nicotine Boulevard" . . . Gainsborough has just moved into the British Embassy on Massachusetts Avenue. You'll remember Tony as that daring R. A. F. pilot of the last War . . . Joseph Lombardi is building the new subway from the Prep to Rockville, so that all two of the Rockville day hops will no longer lack transportation to school . . . George Ghecas, often seen in those clever Kremel ads, just won the National Open. George is the popular instructor at his newly opened Soignissime Country Club . . . Manuel

Senior Class History

We, the class of 1941, have completed our years at Georgetown Prep, and now feel ready and equipped to meet whatever the future might hold. However, it is interesting to review the progress made during the past four years. In this way we can show how the class has progressed, and bring back to all the Seniors many pleasant and happy memories.

On a September morning, four short years ago, the present Senior class had its beginning with only nine of its present members: John Golden from Chicago, Illinois; Bishop and Murray McDonnell of New York City; Robert McChesney and John Nicolaides from nearby Chevy Chase; Joseph Lombardi from Philadelphia, William Cremen of Washington, D. C., and Michael Daly from Southport, Connecticut. In February of Freshman year, Ben Decker, of Elkton, Maryland, joined the class.

Father Brown, S.J., instructed the class in Latin, English, and Religion. History and Algebra were taught by Mr. Belknap and Mr. Hargaden. In the sporting centers of the school the class was well represented on the Midget and Jayvee teams.

Upon our return to the Prep in Sophomore year there were several new faces. Bud Eckrich, fresh from Kalamazoo, was about to make a name for himself as an all-around athlete. John Brunett, President of the Sodality, began his daily commuting from neighboring Rockville. From beyond the Mississippi came Edward Vaccaro of Forrest City, Arkansas, and Michael Tobin of Burlingame, California. English and Religion were taught by Mr. Kirsch, S.J., while Mr. Belknap and Mr. Hargaden continued our courses in History and Algebra. Doctor Jacobs introduced us to the study of Biology and Mr. Joseph had us lisping in Greek.

Then in September of 1939 our ranks were further increased by more new Prepsters: John Loftus, of Merion, Pennsylvania; Manuel Umana, of Colombia, South America; Robert Banker, of Trenton, New Jersey; The Earl of Gainsborough, England; James Patton, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. Hoggson, S.J. was our professor in Latin and English, while Mr. Nolan, S.J. and Doctor Roman taught us Modern Languages. Father Kiehne, S.J. and Mr. Davis led us through the intricacies of Geometry, and Mr. Joseph still had our Greek scholars under his tutelage.

This year was marked by a large proportion of the Juniors in various sports.

Our last vacation spent, we returned as exalted Seniors to begin our final year at the Prep. Eight new Seniors were with us, increasing our numbers to twenty-eight. The newcomers were: Albert Young, of Alexandria, Virginia; Leslie Thompson, of Kansas City, Missouri; Thomas Roche, of Miami Beach, Florida; George Ghecas, of Danbury, Connecticut;

President's Message

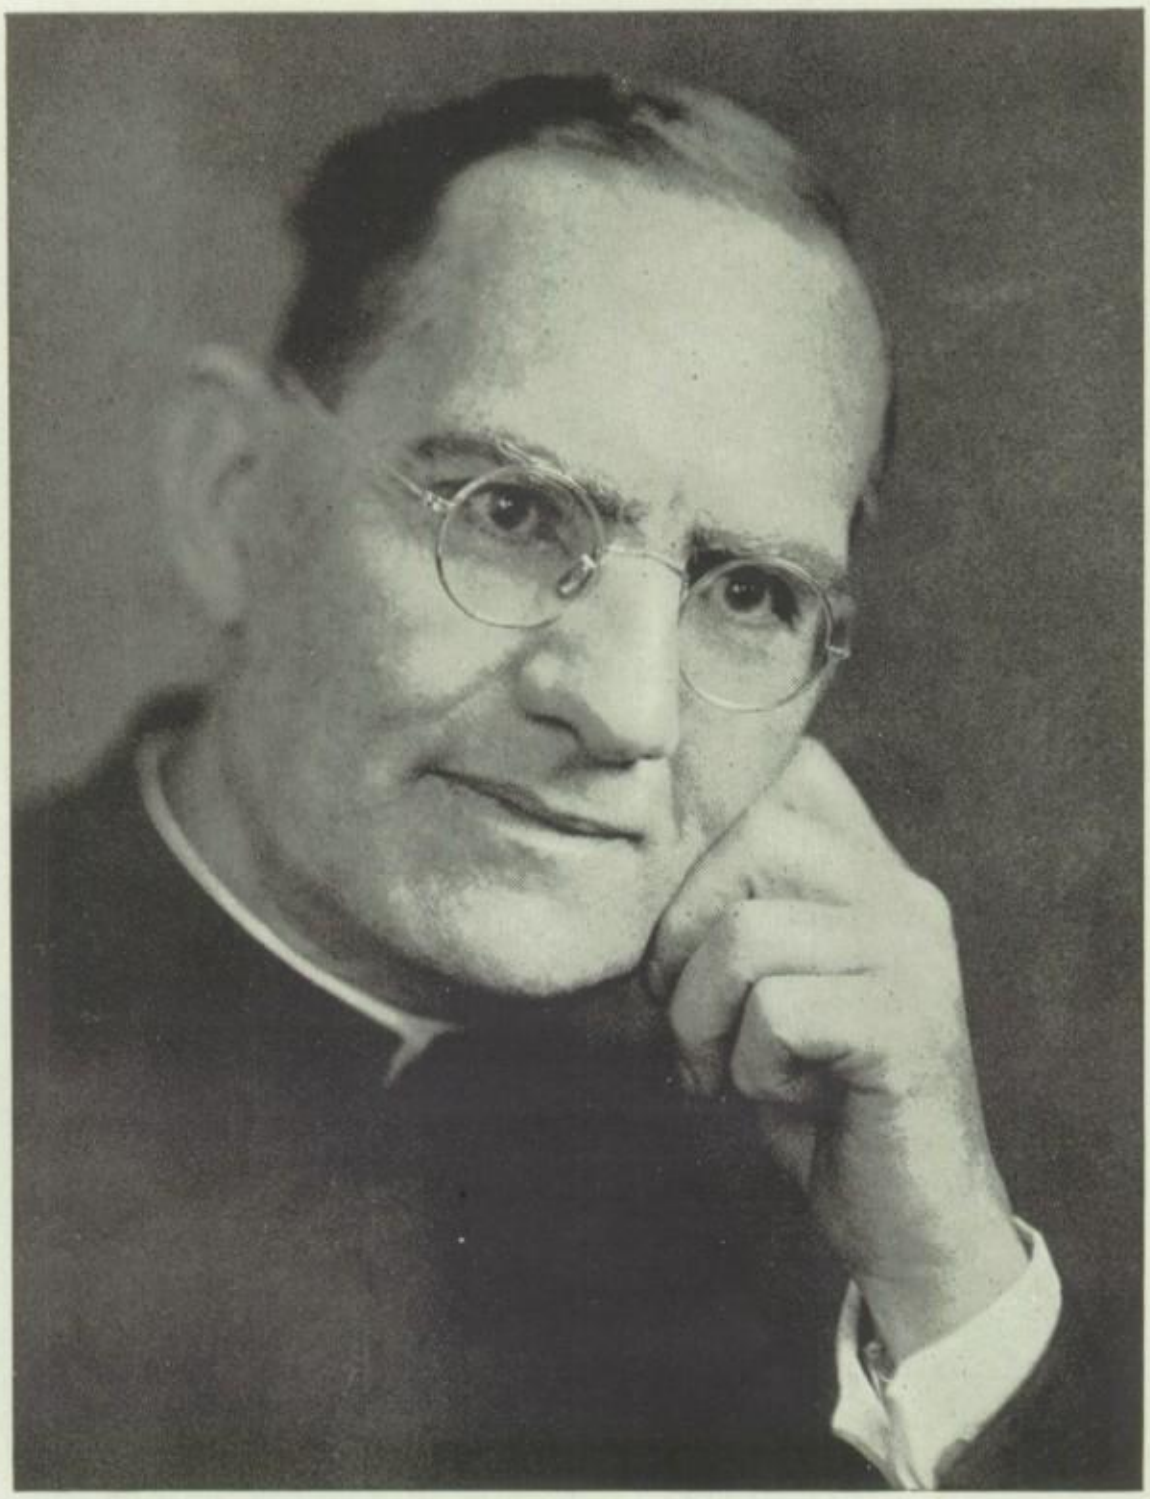
To the Graduating Class of 1941, we wish success and happiness. May your ideals, consecrated by the Wisdom of Christ, be strong and enduring. These ideals of your Preparatory School years have been founded in an atmosphere of Reverence for God, for yourselves and for one another. With the increase of independence that comes with maturer years, may there be a proportionate growth in the beautiful virtue of Reverence, which is the secret to all happiness that is genuine and true. With Reverence in your hearts, your lives will know a Faith, which this world cannot destroy. Without Reverence, you are likely to become sceptics and scoffers. The world is as we find it today because of irreverence. You have the ideals. Be true to them, no matter what sacrifice may be demanded. Only then will you know a happiness that will endure, no matter what changes may come to our world.

Every blessing upon your lives,—the welcome of home ever awaits you at your Preparatory School.



REVEREND GREGORY KIEHNE, S.J.

Dedication

As a lasting token of our gratitude to Father Gregory Kiehne, for his guidance, his counsels, and his priestly edification, we, the class of nineteen hundred and forty one, dedicate this yearbook in his honor. May he continue to inspire and guide the many classes that will follow us at Georgetown Preparatory School.
